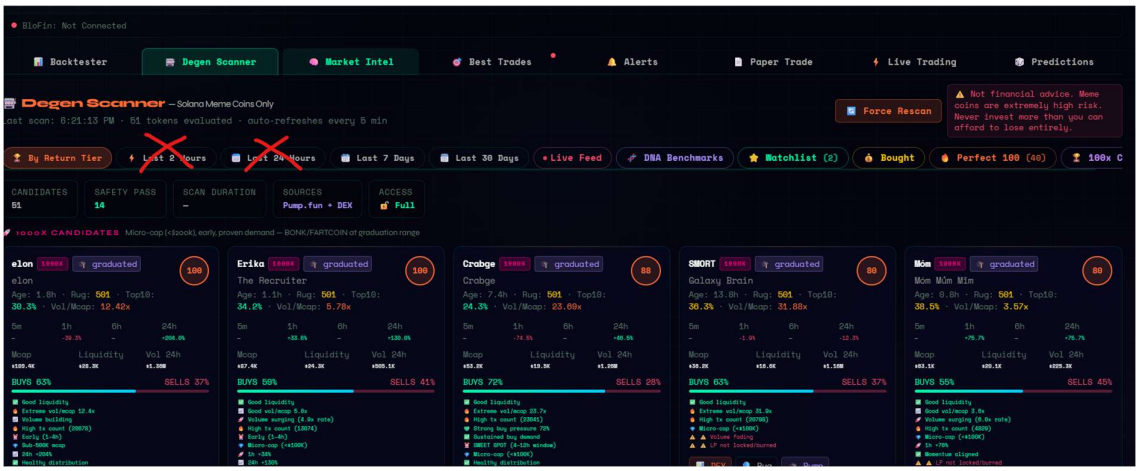
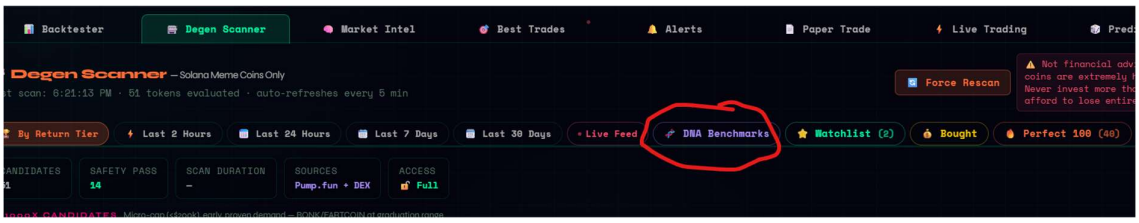
Ideas and updates for the meme coin tab

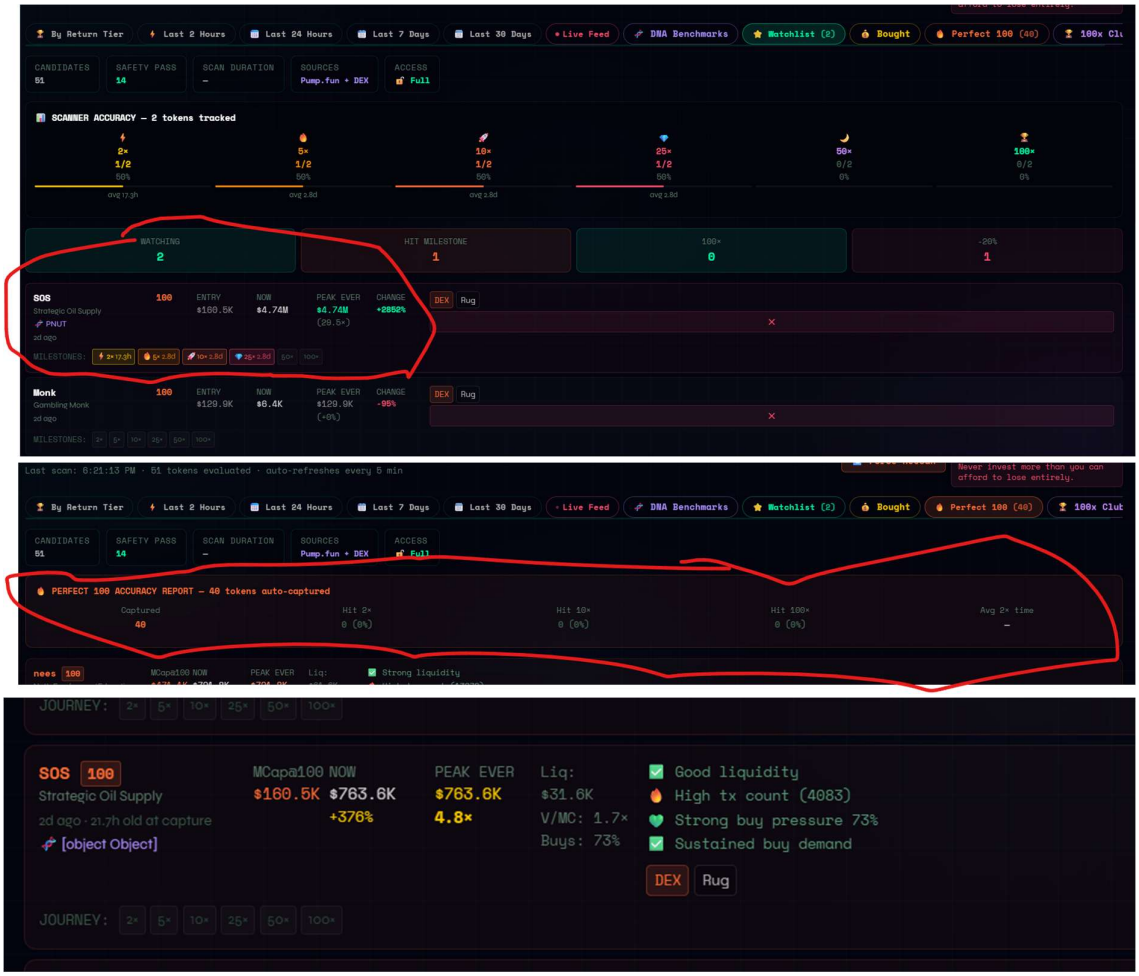
1. We don't need the user to look back over these timeframes, the don't add value as anything that hits 100% gets logged



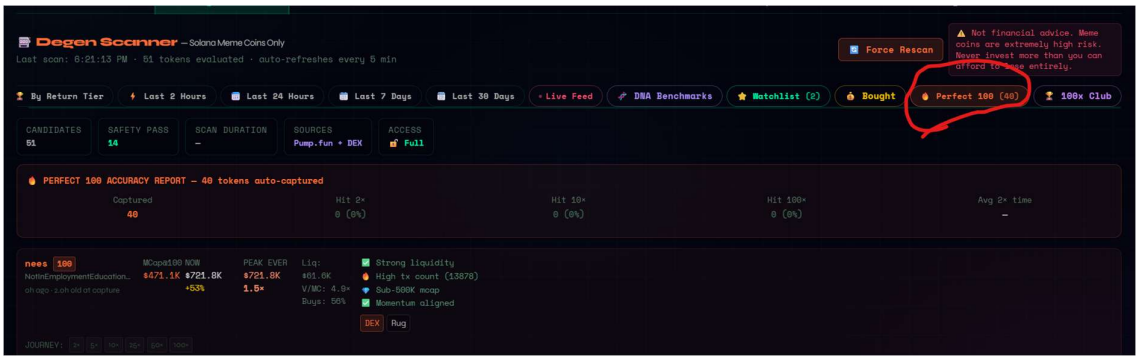
2. Have your agents look at what the benchmarks are and see what else we should use.



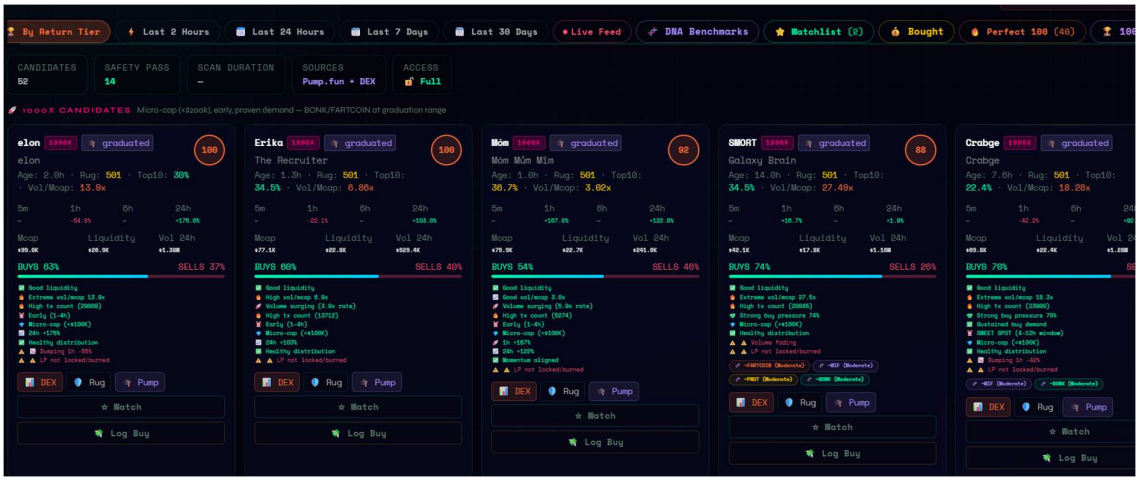
3. These mem did really good but it only registered because I added it to my watchlist, it was also in the perfect 100 but its gains weren't recorded



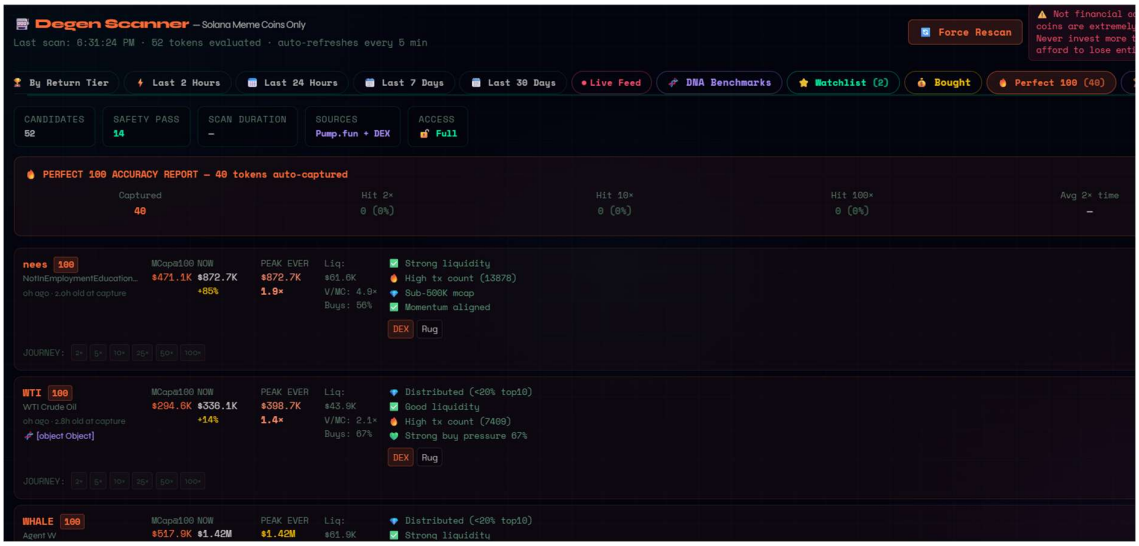
4. I want the dashboard to learn and update its knowledge base and improve its scoring and prediction model learning from every meme that hits the perfect 100 score. To make it more accurate. It should also learn from all of the successful ones that hit the milestones. Have your agents research what else we should do.



5. Could we add a probability weighting here? How would it work? It would also need to update in real time as it changes.



would also need to be added and update live here as well



6. Can we add both an execute trade and auto trade section for the meme coin tab?
